West Twenty-third Street

LAY HURT
FOR 4 DAYS.Mrs. Tucker Was Dying
When Neighbors Discovered Her.

Mrs. Angelina Tucker, colored, was found unconscious in her home in the rear of 127 West Twenty-third street this afternoon and was removed to the New York Hospital, dying.

Two wounds in her forehead led the hospital surgeons to think she had been struck with some blunt weapon. Search was made for her husband, Frank Tucker, and he was arrested.

Neighbors found the woman. She is supposed to have been helpless since last Friday morning. Tucker has been on a spree for a week.

WANDERER
AT NINETY.Old Man Famished, Found
Adrift in the Rain.

Drenched with rain, weak and exhausted from exposure and so mentally feeble he could not tell his name, Joseph McAvoy, ninety-one years old, was found wandering on Third avenue at Thirty-ninth street to-day.

The old man when taken to Bellevue Hospital said he had no home and had lost his belongings in a fire two days after being treated in the hospital. He was comfortable, he became more lucid and told the doctor that he had a son, James McAvoy, and a daughter, Elizabeth, living at 128 East Forty-second street.

TO PROVE
HER SANE.Friends of Rich Miss Wendel Crowd the Court.

The friends of Georgiana G. R. Wendel had their hearing to-day before the Commission and Sheriff's jury which for several days has been sitting in hearing as to the sanity of the wealthy White Plains spinster.

At the last hearing doctors, nurses and attendants swore that Miss Wendel was mentally unfit to care for her person or estate, which amounts to about a million.

When the proceedings were opened to-day the courtroom was crowded by her friends, the majority of whom testify that she is perfectly capable of looking after her own interests. Experts employed in Miss Wendel's interest will also have their say as to her sanity.

Miss Wendel, accompanied by her three watchful and ever present nurses, came into the courtroom promptly at the time set for the hearing. Commissioners Bookstaver and Townsend were on hand on time, but again Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald kept the hearing waiting.

Before the proceedings were begun Lawyer Snyder at the request of Miss Wendel petitioned the Commission to compel the nurses to keep away from Miss Wendel during the actual court proceedings at least. As soon as Miss Wendel took her seat these three nurses surrounded her so that every word she says to her counsel or anybody else can be heard by them. They sit within a few inches of her.

"Miss Wendel is annoyed seven days a week by these people," complained Mr. Snyder, "and she requests me to ask the Court that she at least be rid of their during the actual court proceedings. They keep so close to her that they are able to overhear anything that she says to me or her advisers. It is to say the least, a very unpleasant situation."

The commissioners would not grant the request of Mr. Snyder and ask the nurses to move, but said that Miss Wendel was to be allowed the privacy of any client in consulting with her attorney. The nurses made no attempt to move.

The name of the consignee could not be learned.

BONDS FOR NEW PARKS.Aldermen, Under Pressure, Vote for Two Issues.

A special communication from the Municipal Council including the preliminary writ of mandamus recently issued ordering the Council to take action in approving the bond issue of $2,945,424.62 for the Eleventh Ward Park on Houston and Sheriff streets, was called up for special action by the Board of Aldermen this afternoon.

After a short discussion the bond issue was approved unanimously, forty-eight votes being cast.

While the vote was being taken President Murphy was served with another writ of mandamus in the matter of approving the bond issue of $2,945,424.62 for corporate stock for the proposed park bounded by Pleasant avenue and One Hundred and Fourteenth street, First avenue and the East River.

The matter was at once put to a vote, and John J. McCall in voting objected strongly to "acting like a dummy," but voted "aye" notwithstanding.

Again forty-eight "aye" in favor, the vote being unanimous.

The Board as a special order took up an adjourned matter, an appropriation of $4,500 for stock and plans for the Street-Cleaning Department, and made another attempt to pass it. Alderman Call rushed about and got the members of the Board to vote "aye" to the appropriation.

A general order was then called up by Alderman Hyndman relative to a resolution for the authorization of $24,000 for pumping engines at the Jerome Park reservoir. The resolution was passed.

PEKING, Saturday, Oct. 6.—Prince Chung has received an edict from the Emperor, dated Oct. 1, in reply to a note sent at the request of the Legation, saying that he will return to Peking as soon as the negotiations take a favorable turn.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Chinese Minister said today that if the powers regarded it as essential that the Emperor and Empress Dowager should return to Peking he was quite content that this could be brought about, first by giving positive assurances for the personal safety of their Majesties, and then, as plain evidence of this assurance, directing that the bulk of the allied forces now at Peking be withdrawn to Tientsin, Langkoo or some other point, leaving only a few hundred troops at Peking as a guard.
